Chapter 1: Getting Started

The first step to investing is to open an investment account. There are many different types of investment accounts available, so it's important to choose one that's right for you.

Once you have an investment account, you can start investing in a variety of different assets, such as stocks, bonds, and mutual funds.

However, stocks can also be volatile, so it's important to diversify your portfolio by investing in a variety of different stocks.

Bonds are loans that you make to a company or government. When you buy a bond, you are lending money to that entity. Bonds typically pay interest payments, and when the bond matures, you will receive your principal back. Bonds are generally less risky than stocks, but they also offer lower potential returns.

Mutual funds are investment funds that pool money from many investors and invest in a variety of different assets. Mutual funds offer diversification, which can help reduce your risk. However, mutual funds also have fees, so it's important to compare the fees of different mutual funds before you invest.
