Get ready for a wild and wonderful ride with Billy Connolly, the legendary Scottish comedian, as he embarks on the ultimate American road trip. From the bright lights of Las Vegas to the rolling hills of the Deep South, Billy travels the length and breadth of the country, meeting its colourful characters, exploring its iconic landmarks, and uncovering its hidden gems.

With his trademark wit and charm, Billy brings to life the people and places he encounters along the way. There's the eccentric rancher who claims to have invented the internet, the Elvis impersonator who gives Billy a private performance, and the Native American chief who shares his wisdom about the land. Billy also visits some of America's most iconic landmarks, including the Grand Canyon, the Statue of Liberty, and the White House.

But it's not all just laughs and sightseeing. Billy also takes the time to explore some of the more serious issues facing America today. He talks to farmers about the challenges of climate change, meets with activists working to fight poverty, and visits a school where children are learning about the history of racism in the United States.

Through it all, Billy's infectious enthusiasm and love for life shine through. He embraces the unexpected, revels in the beauty of the country, and finds humour in even the most challenging situations. The Big Yin on the Ultimate American Road Trip is a hilarious, heartwarming, and unforgettable journey that will leave you with a deeper understanding of America and its people.
